Epreuve d'anglaisSERIE : 11^e Sciences*DUREE : 2H*Coeff : 2*Année Scolaire : 2024-2025*LYCÉE YANA MAIGA DE GAO*Text: Radio and television.

In the old time, it was difficult for people to know about the world new. They didn't use any sophisticated means of communication. People therefore informed themselves from one another. To enjoy theaters, concerts, music and interesting football matches, people move to distant places where those activities were performed.

Today all that has changed. Radio and television now become important means of communication.

In 1920 regular radio programs began, but the sound was unnatural and the voices were often blurred. Now, people can hear many news by merely turning on their radios.

Yet the average persons are happy when they can see what they are hearing.

So, they turn on the television so that they can see the news as they are happening.

Radio and television stations broadcast day and night entertainment programs such as: comedies, crime films and musical varieties. Educational television is developing too. It encourages a lot students to work hard at school.
